EQUIPMENT NETWORK OPTIONS

There are two equipment set-up networks to choose from. To determine the most efficient and economical network, the following factors need to be evaluated:

- Number of desired channels
- Number of units in the property
- Number of televisions per unit or room

Headend System Network

In headend system networks, a digital satellite receiver and video modulator are required for each program channel.

L-Band System Network

In L-Band system networks, a digital satellite receiver is required for each unit of the property.

We can help you decide which system is right for you.
